Where Land and Sea Unite to Inspire

SOMEONE has aptly said, "The highest reward for a man's toil is not what he gets for it, but what he becomes by it." Some of you students will get diplomas at graduation time and others will get other immediate rewards from your efforts of this and the past few years. These rewards, however, are only milestones and unless you continue to build, your efforts will have been in vain. It is what you become that will count. It is the wish of your faculty that you will continue to build solidly and wisely and thus become men and women of noble character measuring up to God's great ideals.

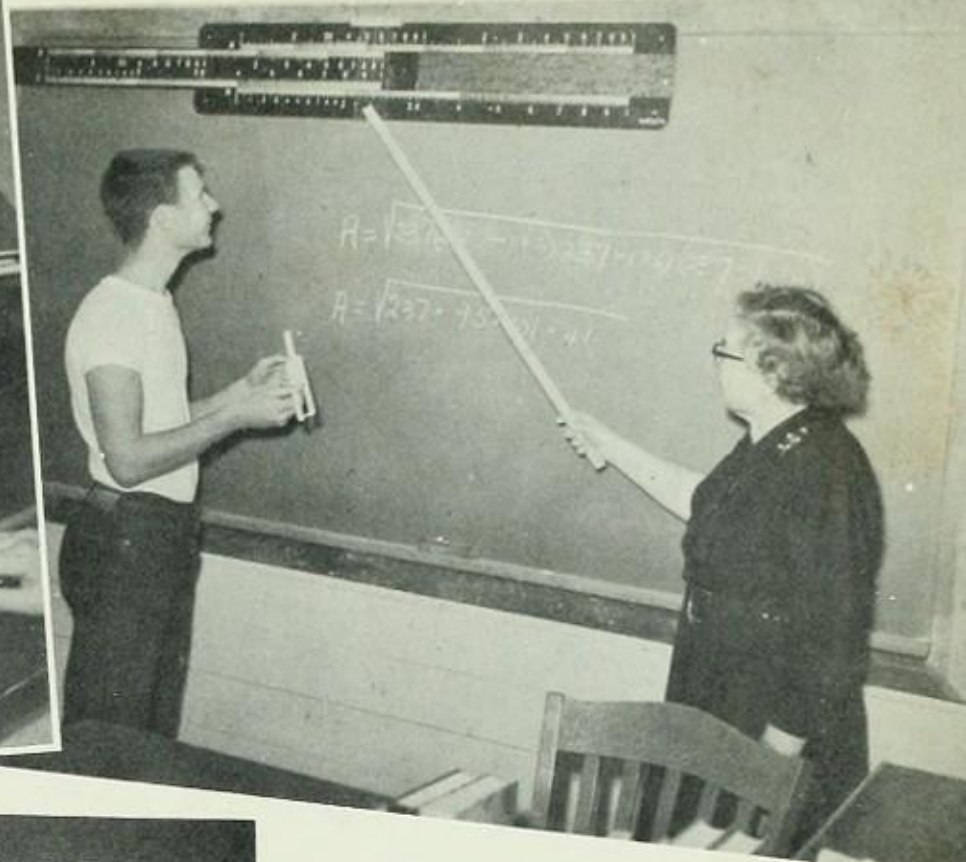

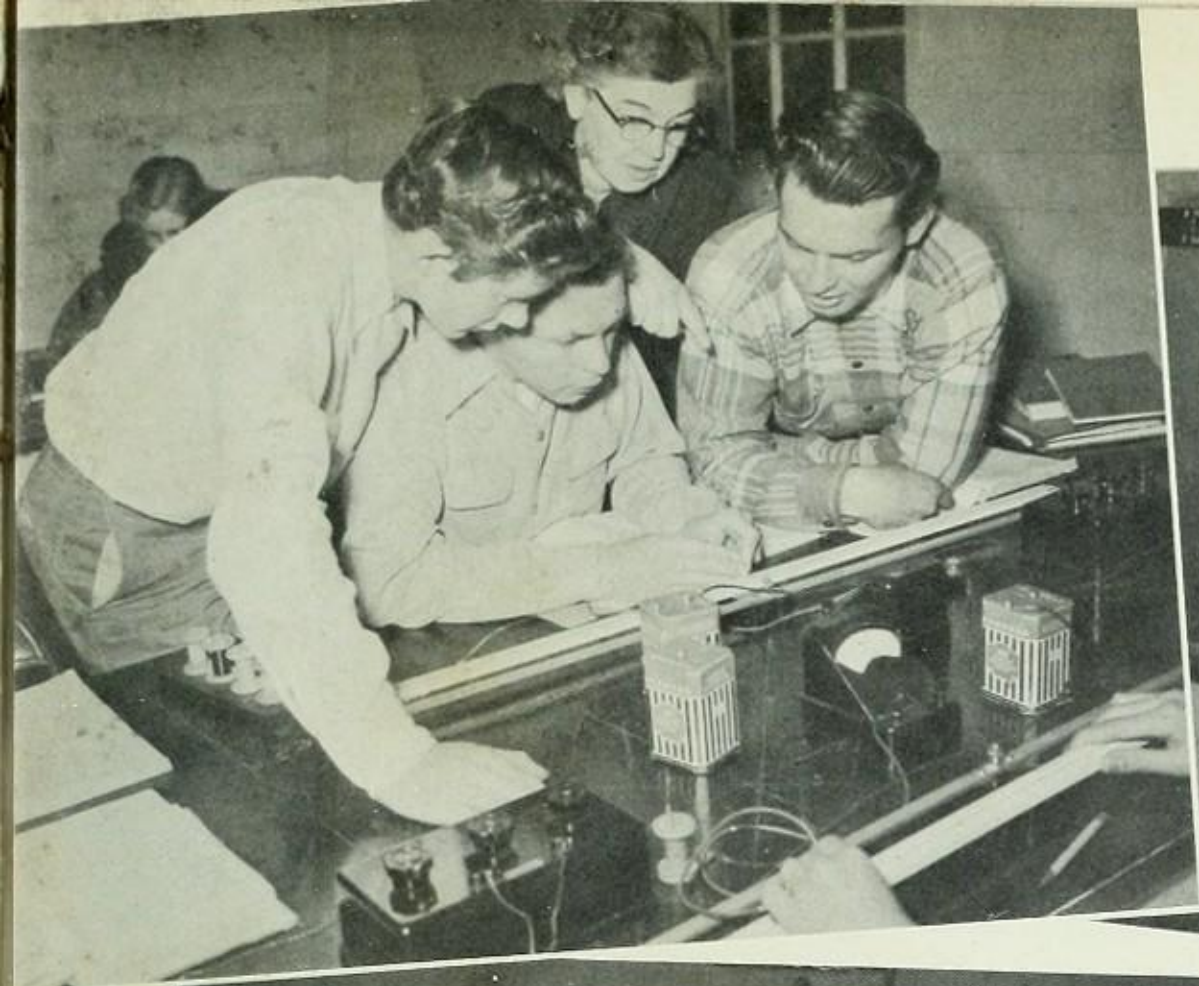

D. J. Bieber, Principal

D. J. Bieber

Our Board of Directors

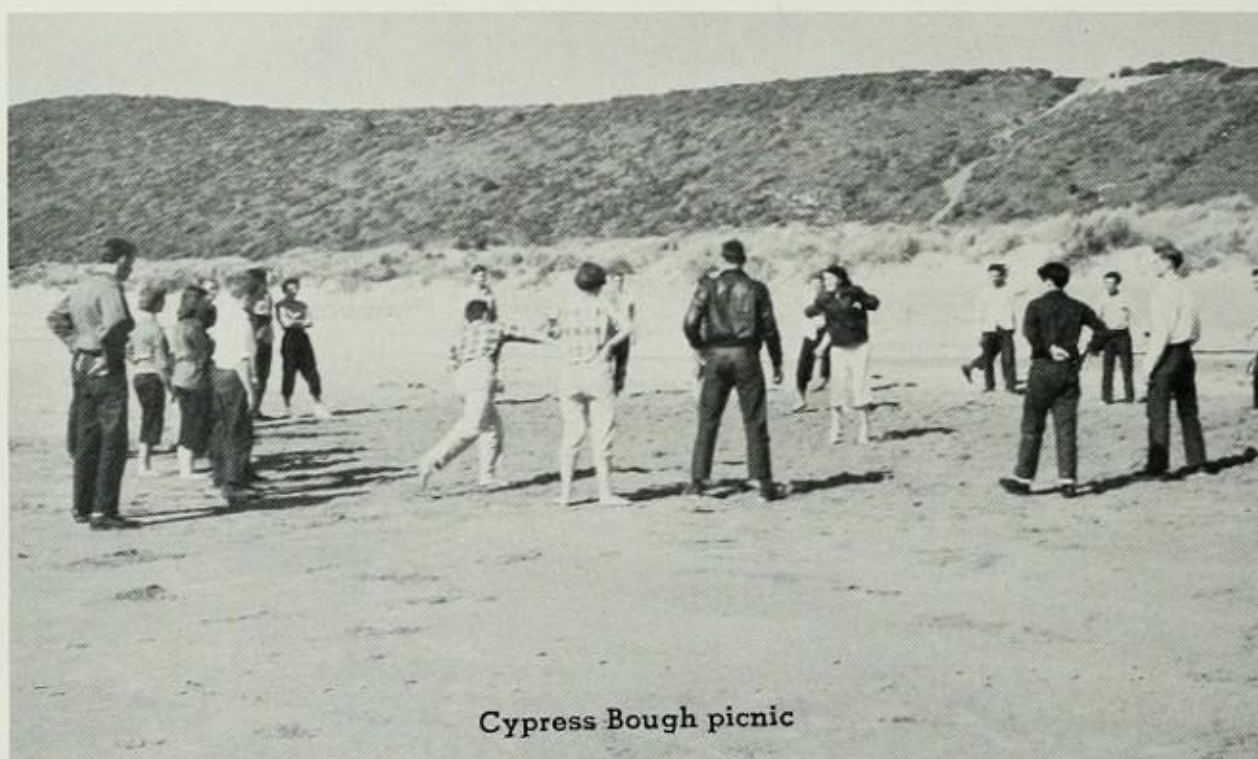

To one who, through the years, has faithfully given her life in service and self-sacrifice for the development of character in Christian youth, to one who is always busy but never too busy to find another half hour to help a student wandering in the maze of tangents and locis or the mephitic aroma of H_2S , or in the vacuum of rarefied mental activity. With a typical pioneer spirit, she came to MBA at its inception and has ably directed the varied activities of the School Council through the past six years. We, the staff, sincerely feel that she merits the use of the Science Building now under construction and the dedication of the Cypress Bough of 1955.

The Bough Staff Takes a Bow to 1955

Who voted me into this job? is the eternal question of every staff member as inexorable deadlines stare, nose to nose. Glossy paste-up sheets, dull layout sheets, trimmed pictures, rubber cement, algebraic equations, type-written copy, red and blue pencils, pica gauges, erasers, waste baskets, all interrupted by hearty guffaws as new pictures are spied, plus the burning of post-midnight oil and gas, are the rewards for unstudied lessons of tomorrow. And now . . . brace yourself—cameras seldom prevaricate!

There Were Changes

On rare occasions it rained and then the newly paved roads were a welcome asset to keep white shoes white. The old Social Hall could have told a real story of functional usage before being torn down to provide lumber for newer campus additions. By carving out the hillside behind the dairy, a new farm road and irrigation pipe line were laid out. Adding dignity to our Baker Chapel were the new green-velvet curtains, a mutual project of the School Council and the administration.

"Blow Me Down"

Boys, Boys, Boys!

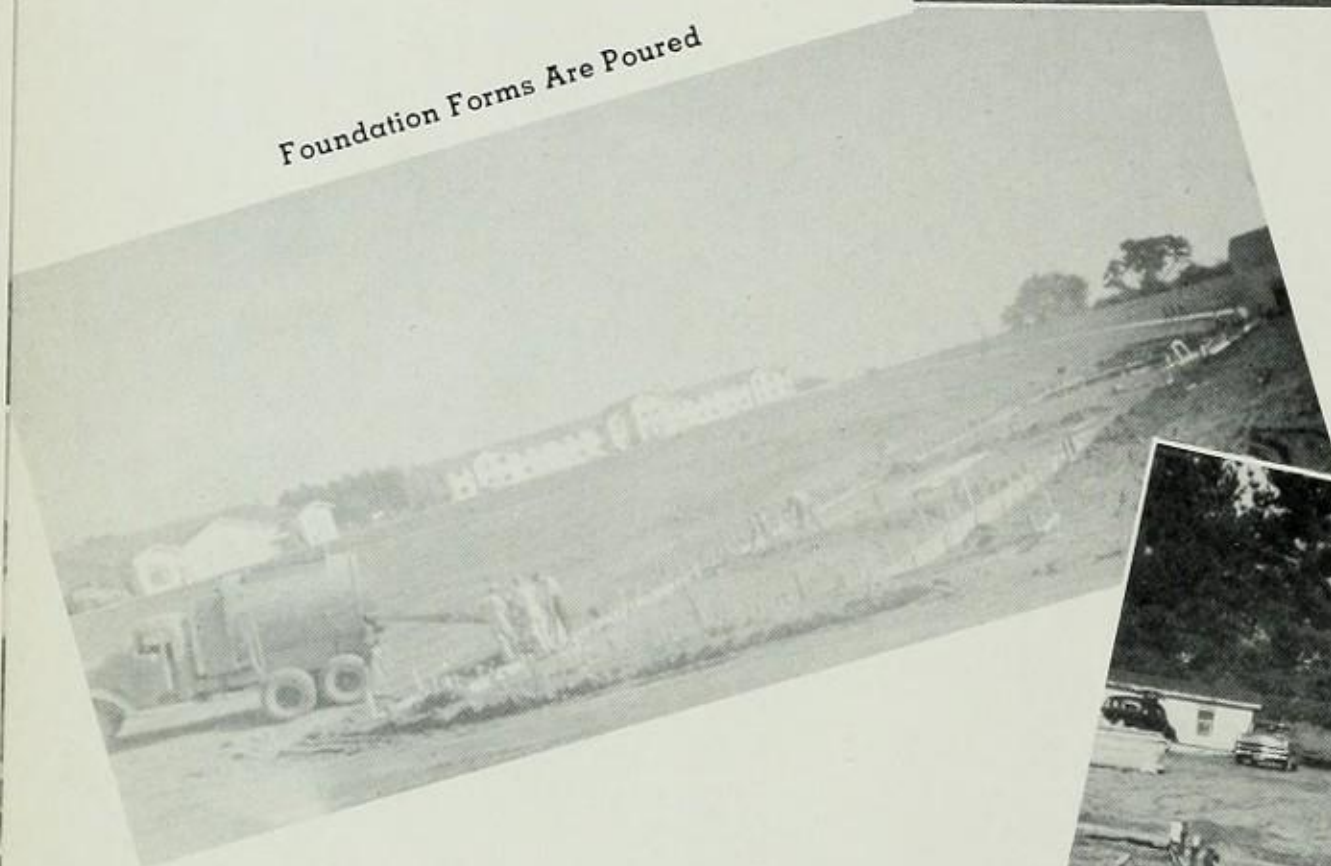

When boys get together, there is real fun brewing somewhere. They've had their share this year! Right, boys? Into this, out of that. Trouble? Never! There are about 120 fellows in the new dorm and 30 in the annex who would like to extend a hearty thanks to the two men who have guided and chided them during this school year. They are all better Christians for having been together.

Fifth in the planned series of six permanent new buildings on our campus is the new Science and Home Economics Building located between the new Administration Building and Girls Dormitory. This will remove two more departments from the old barracks buildings. Matching this on the other side will be the Industrial Arts Building next year. T-H-E-N will come landscaping.

Student Week of Devotion

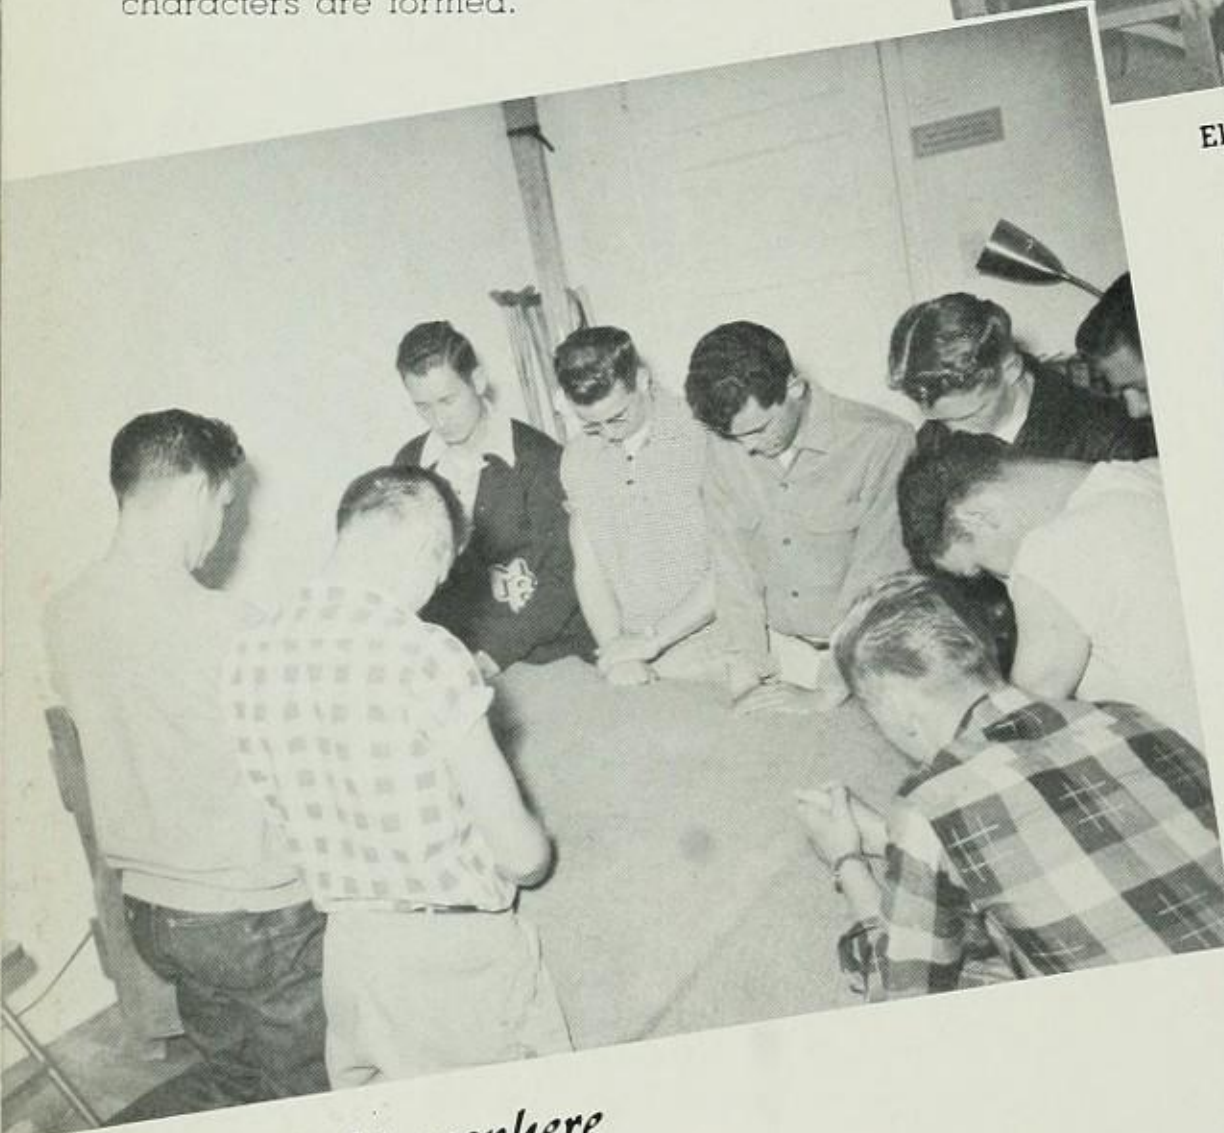

Johnny Breckenridge, Ralph Allen
Roy Shigley, Dale Ratzlaff

In the weekly prayer bands in the dormitories, in chapel exercises, in the fall and spring Weeks of Prayer, followed by the communion service, in the quiet Friday-evening vespers, in Sabbath school, church and MV meetings, in dormitory worships, in personal counseling, the spiritual tone of the school is set, decisions are made, characters are formed.

Seminar

Divided into several speaking groups, they visited various churches throughout the school year, giving their carefully prepared sermons with the goal in mind of drawing others to the Christian pathway. High light of the year was their participation in the Youth Consecrate in Fresno.

Foreign Missions Band

To kindle the zealous fire of mission service or to fan the spark of enthusiasm for work in the cause of God was the aim of those who listened to stories of progress from the world divisions where this Gospel is being preached to hasten His soon-coming.

Colporteur Club

To help those who planned to enter the Lord's work during the summer in the field of literature evangelism was the purpose of this club, which included MBA students who established a good reputation for the school last summer.

Charles Roesel, president; Carolyn Mundall, secretary; Ralph Allen, publicity.

Temperance Club

To teach others self-control is the business of young people today. Seventh-day Adventist youth can be leaders in the world in the field of temperance, which is uppermost in the minds of many interested in curbing delinquency.

FIRST SEMESTER

MIDDLE ROW: Miss Tefft, Janet Clift, Pat Strawn, Hazel Butler, Glenda Hunt, Miss Scott.

School Council

This is the mainspring which makes the school family function as a co-ordinated organization. Here, through the year, ideas of students and faculty are fitted together like a jigsaw puzzle which presents a most pleasant memory when viewed as a completed whole. The Council sponsored such activities as a corn feed on the beach, Autumn Festival, Christmas party, All-School Banquet and Picnic and Amateur Hour, which furnished funds for special projects, such as the green-velvet curtains for Baker Chapel and a picnic area on the cliff overlooking "our" ocean. A new project this year was Student-Teacher Day, with 52 students participating.

SECOND SEMESTER

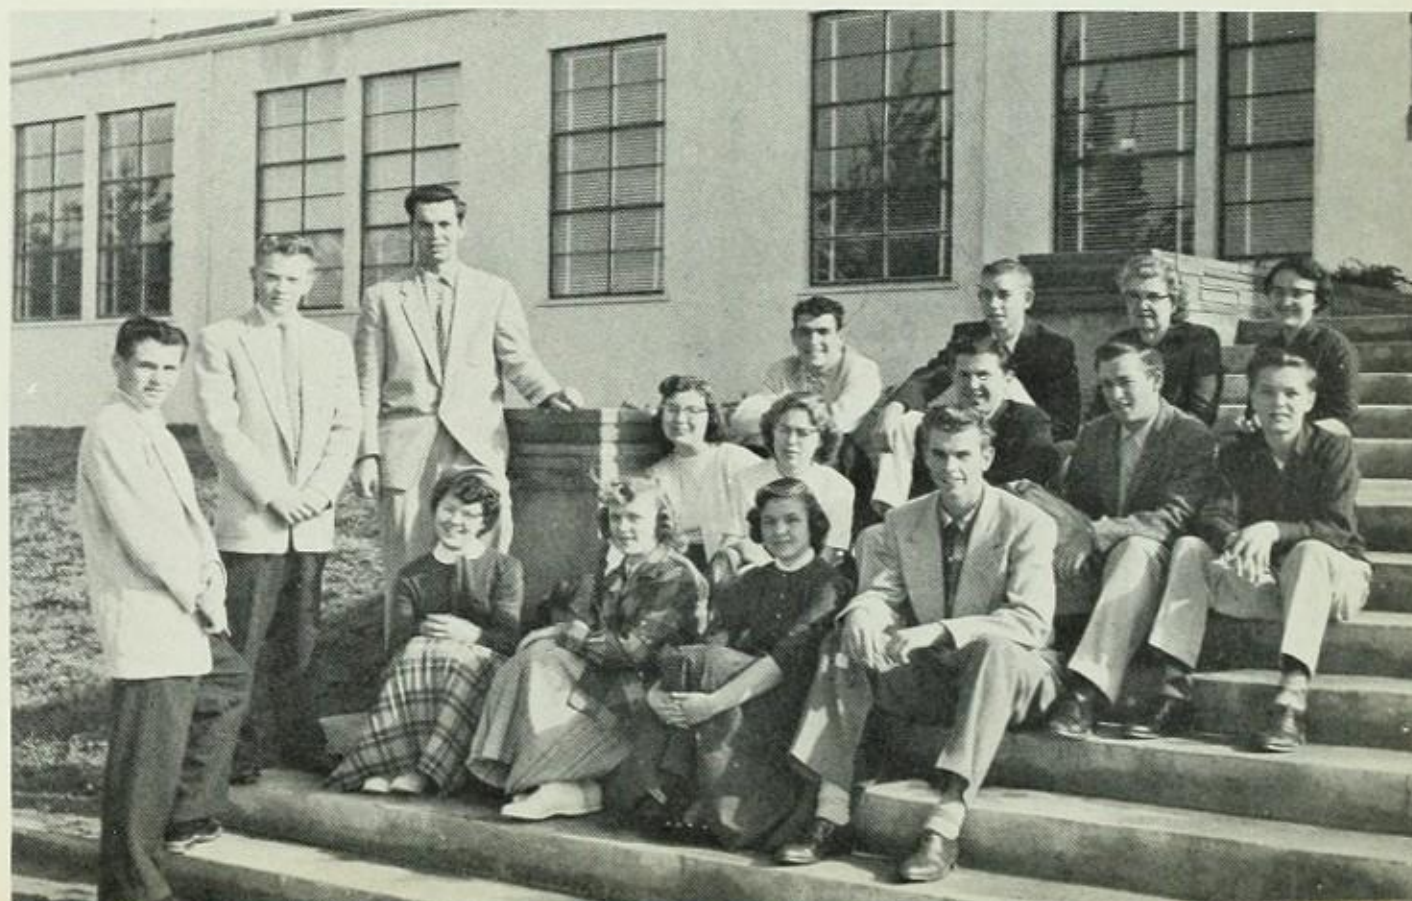

STANDING: Barry Davidson, John Breckenridge, Richard Roth.

FIRST ROW: June Kisling, Bette Haenny, Marlyn Wiggins, Dale Ratzlaff.

SECOND ROW: Wilma Kurtz, Donna Robertson.

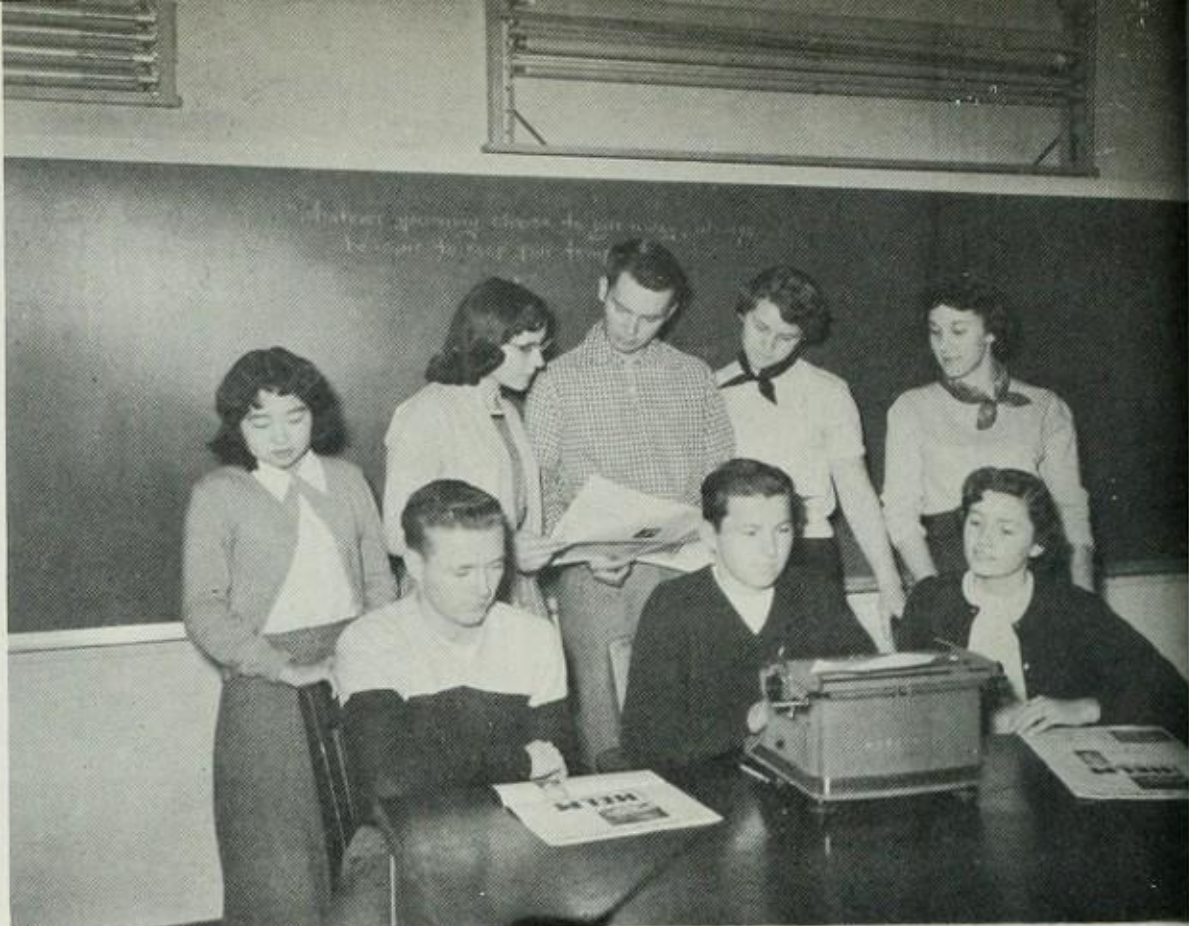

THIRD ROW: Ken Scheideman, Tom Seibly, Bob Seyle, Hans Sawatzky.

Campaign Closing

These were the producers and circulators of The Helm for both semesters. This is also known as the Speech and Journalism class, as this group studies aspects of public speech as well as fundamentals of journalism. The school paper, one of the largest of denominational academy publications, a few years ago was awarded an outstanding tribute by a critic from the Northwestern University.

Reporters

Richard Bramham, Winnie Scott, Mr. C. D. Anderson, literary adviser; Wanda Van Dyke, Lulu Archer, Leona Arendt, Freida Hiten, Darlene Bliss, Mickey Davis, Allan Roth (seated).

Music Hath Charms

With a student body of around 300, musical talent was not hard to find. Never a meeting without its special music, never a Vespers without its organ prelude, never a Sabbath School without its student pianist, never a banquet without its musical offerings.

Connie Palmer is advised by Mrs. Howard

Banquets There Were!

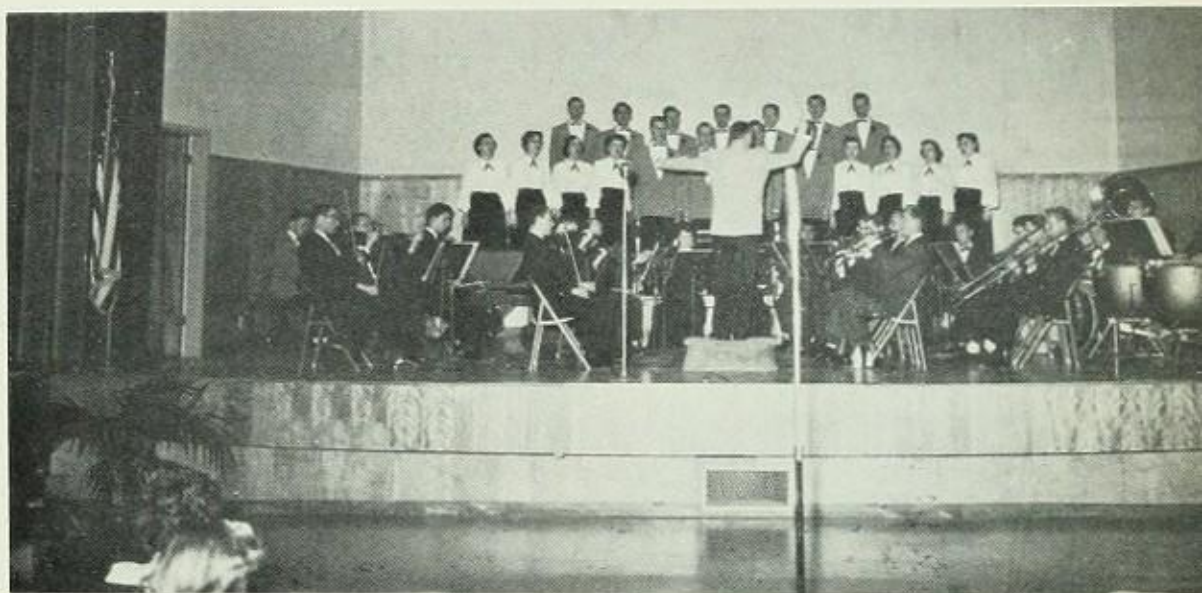

In the rush of everything, it seemed there always was a banquet just around the corner: another backdrop, another food committee, another group of waiters, another decorations committee and, of course, a program committee. To complete the ensemble, there also were students—as emcees, as participants on the program, as diners at festive tables.

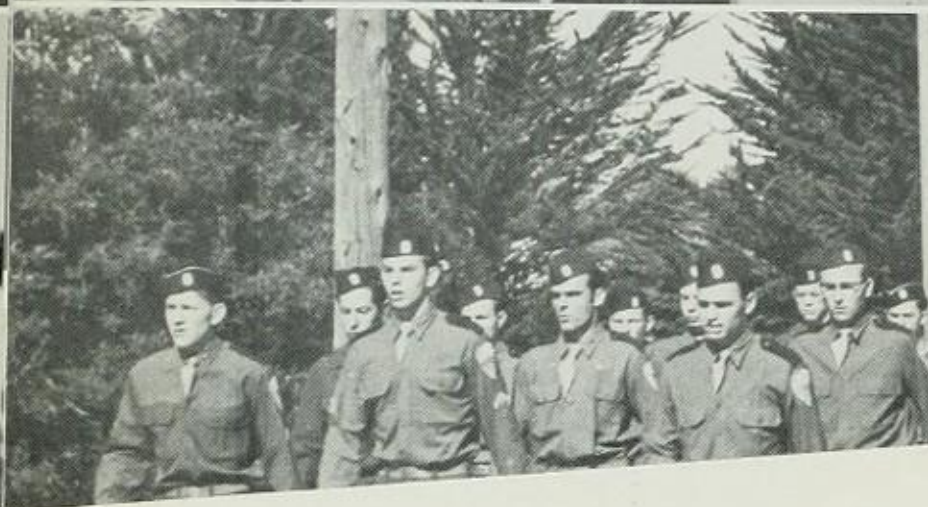

They Brought Variety

MBA campus life is never dull, with other schools such as Pacific Union College Schools of Nursing and La Sierra College providing many varied programs. They brought their best talent which couldn't help but give MBA-ites the desire to really develop the talents they possess. Vocational guidance for the choosing of a life work was held high by these visiting groups.
